WHAT THE FLOWERS MR. HYDE WORE MEAN.

Violets --- Blue, love and faithfulness; White, modesty and candidness.

-The Language of Flowers. AMES HAZEN HYDE made good his defiance that he would not resign from the Vice-Presidency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society this aftersoon by attending the big conference between all the warring factions, held in the office of State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks, at No. 11 Broadway, taking an active part in the deliberations and ignoring the fact that the time limit of the ultimatum given for him to resign or be be investigated, was up.

eme of mutualization satisfac-Mr. Hyde and his friends agreeing reduce the four-year mutualization two years, by agreeing to allow the policy-holders to fill the two vacancies in the directory of the society and by ving the policy-holders two xecutive Committee at once.

the results of the two days of almo constant conference, was issued by all factions at the close of the meeting: "At a conference held before the Superintendent of Insurance, the Crimelderation the following report: They demand a representation in the directory at the ratio of 23 to 24, one half to be elected in 1905 and the other half in 1905, the two existing vacancies in the Board of Directors to be filled by men whose names were to be prepared by the policy holders' com-mittee.

These two names, so suggested by the policy-holders' committee, were to be put upon the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee constitution Executive Committee consisting of twelve members, it was suggested that two additional names for members of the Executive Committee should be des-ignated by Mr. C. N. Bliss.

"In order to recur four vacancies for these it was suggested that the rintendent of Insurance designate the four me nwho should retire from the present Executive Committee.

The counsel for the Equitable Society, Mr. Root, stated that he would recommend its acceptance to the Board of Hyde's Fight Yet On.

The agreement on mutualization has sething to do with the question of whether or no Mr. Hyde is to resign. The Alexander men said that Mr. Hyde's attitude to-day would certainly result in an appeal being made to the Attorney-General for an invatigation of the administration of the society's affairs, as Mr. Alexander has no idea of seconding from the position he took yesterday.

After Mr. Hyde came downtown to-ay a griend made this statement to be livening World for him.

Mr. Tyde will not resign. This fant. Under no circumstances

McGraw's Men First to Score in Game Only Two Starters in Race, with Colonels-The First Real Contest of Spring Training Tour.
